EEO In 2003 And Forward:

A Legal Guide to the FCC's New EEO Rule and Policies For Broadcasters¹

I. INTRODUCTION

On November 20, 2002, the FCC released a Second Report and Order and Third Notice of Proposed Rule Making (the "Second R&O") in which it adopted new equal employment opportunity rules and policies for broadcasters and for multi-channel video programming distributors (the "new EEO Rule")². A complete copy of the new EEO Rule as it relates to broadcasters is attached hereto as Attachment A.

The FCC's action was in response to the Court's decision in MD/DC/DE Broadcasters Association v. FCC, 236 F.3d 13, rehearing denied 253 F.3d 732 (D.C. Cir. 2001), cert. denied, 122 S.Ct. 920 (2002) ("Association") in which the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit vacated the EEO rule which the Commission had adopted in early 2000 (the "2000 EEO Rule").³ Shortly thereafter, the Commission suspended various EEO-related reporting requirements, including the filing of the Annual Employment Report on FCC Form 395-B which had been used for years to publicly identify the race, ethnicity and gender of employees at all nonexempt radio and television stations.

³ Our firm successfully represented the State Broadcasters Associations in the MD/DC/DE Broadcasters case and earlier represented the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in its successful challenge of the EEO rule that existed prior to 2000.

While the 2000 EEO Rule was in effect for only about a year, the rule mandated equal employment opportunity and nondiscrimination as well as required broadcasters to elect one of two outreach options to widely disseminate information concerning job vacancies to members of the public – Option A and Option B. In Association, the court held that Option B was unconstitutional under the equal protection component of the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment because it required broadcasters selecting Option B to report the race and sex of each job applicant. The Court further found that since Option B could not be severed from the rest of the 2000 EEO Rule, the entire rule must be vacated.

In adopting the new EEO Rule, the Commission has concluded that it has the statutory authority to retain its equal employment opportunity mandate and its anti-discrimination prohibition as well as to promulgate new broad outreach requirements for full-time employees, namely employees whose regular work schedules are 30 or more hours per week. The prior requirement for the filing of FCC Form 395-B, the Annual Employment Report, remains for the time being suspended under the Second R&O. The FCC has stated that it will decide what future action to take with respect to that Report form after the Office of Management and Budget (“OMB”) has approved the form since all Federal government forms issued after 2002 that classify data by race or ethnicity, such as the 395-B form, must meet standards adopted in 1997 for classifying data by race and ethnicity.

Simultaneously with its adoption of the Second R&O, the FCC also issued a Third Notice of Proposed Rule Making (the “Third NPRM”) which requests comment on the applicability of the new EEO Rule to part-time positions, i.e., positions with regular work schedules of less than 30 hours per week. Comments and Reply Comments have been filed and the matter is under consideration by the Commission.

The new EEO Rule mirrors Option A of the 2000 EEO Rule. Like the previous rule, the new EEO Rule requires extensive outreach efforts, substantial recordkeeping, periodic reports filed with the FCC and the placement of those reports in stations' public inspection files and on their websites. Broadcasters must also analyze the results of their recruitment efforts to ensure that broad outreach is being achieved. Under the new EEO Rule, broadcasters will continue to face the prospect of complaints filed by members of the public throughout the license term, petitions to deny at license renewal time and periodic FCC audits and/or investigations. Therefore, it is imperative that every broadcaster carefully review not only the new EEO Rule, but also the entire Second R&O to ensure full compliance with the FCC's new requirements. No broadcaster should simply rely upon his or her recollection of the 2000 EEO Rule or upon recordkeeping systems developed for that former rule.

The Commission has stated that it intends to vigorously enforce these new requirements. The public interest and civil rights groups which participated in the Commission's new EEO rule making have already demonstrated that they will be critically interested in each station's performance in the area of EEO. Those groups will soon have an opportunity to make their views known to the FCC, on a station-by-station basis, since the license renewal filing cycle for radio begins June 1, 2003, and the TV license renewal cycle commences June 1, 2004. Throughout a station's license term, and particularly at renewal time, a station's outreach performance, recordkeeping and FCC filings under the new EEO Rule will be a station's best evidence that it is taking these requirements very seriously.

As with the prior rules, the new EEO Rule applies to broadcast "station employment units." A "station employment unit" ("SEU") is one or more stations that are commonly owned or controlled, located in the same market and share at least one employee.⁴ SEU's with fewer than five full-time employees are exempt from the new EEO Rule outreach requirements but must abide by the equal employment opportunity and anti-discrimination requirements. The fact that a broadcaster may be located in a market where the minority labor force is less than five percent does not exempt that broadcaster from any aspect of the new EEO Rule. Unless the SEU employs less than five full-time employees, the SEU must have a fully compliant broad outreach recruitment program.

According to the FCC, the new EEO Rule is scheduled to become effective on March 10, 2003.

II. THE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY AND ANTI-DISCRIMINATION POLICY AND RULE

A. The General Rule

The FCC has recodified the requirements that the licensees and permittees of all commercial and noncommercially operated AM, FM, TV, Class A TV and International broadcast stations must afford equal opportunity in employment to all qualified persons and that no person shall be discriminated against in employment by such stations nondiscrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin or sex. The Commission has stated that a station that discriminates against minorities or women is not responsive to the needs and interests of the entire community and thus will not be able to fulfill its responsibilities as a public trustee, and that, furthermore, unlawful discrimination raises an issue as to the basic character of a licensee. All broadcast permittees and licensees, regardless of staff size, are subject to the rule requiring equal employment opportunity and prohibiting unlawful employment discrimination.

In addition, all broadcast permittees and licensees, regardless of staff size, are required by Section 1.65 of the FCC's Rules to report to the FCC, on an annual basis, any adverse findings or adverse final actions involving discrimination complaints. Such report, if required, should be filed by the annual anniversary date of the filing of the station's license renewal application.

The Second R&O announces that the FCC has retained its policy of generally deferring action on individual discrimination complaints pending final action by the EEOC or a court of competent jurisdiction, but it will consider final determinations of employment discrimination in making licensing decisions. However, the Commission has also stated that it reserves the discretion to consider allegations of discrimination prior to final determination such as where there are "well-documented allegations of discrimination made by a large number of individuals" or "well-supported allegations of discrimination that shock the conscience or are particularly egregious."

The Second R&O states that the FCC's concern is not limited to intentional discrimination. According to the FCC, the public interest standard of the Communications Act is sufficiently broad to also cover discrimination that may arise as a result of practices and policies that are unintentionally discriminatory.

B. The Application of the Equal Employment Opportunity/Anti-Discrimination Rule to Religious Broadcasters

Under the new EEO Rule, religious broadcasters may establish religious belief or affiliation as a job qualification for all station employees or for only particular job positions. However, they may not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin or sex from among those who share their religious belief or affiliation and are expected to make reasonable good faith efforts to recruit widely among their co-religionists. The new EEO Rule defines a religious broadcaster as a licensee which is, or is closely affiliated with, a church, synagogue, or other religious entity, including a subsidiary of such an entity.

III. BROADCAST EEO PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

A. General EEO Program

The new EEO Rule sets forth certain general Equal Employment Opportunity Program ("EEO Program") requirements that must be adhered to. Specifically, every SEU with 5 or more full-time employees must establish and maintain an EEO Program. Under the terms of that program, the nonexempt SEU must:

(1) Define the responsibility of each level of management to ensure vigorous enforcement of its policy of equal opportunity, and establish a procedure to review and control managerial and supervisory performance;

(2) Inform its employees and recognized employee organizations of the equal employment opportunity policy and program and enlist their cooperation.

(3) Communicate its equal employment opportunity policy and program and its employment needs to sources of qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, or sex, and solicit their recruitment assistance on a continuing basis;

(4) Conduct a continuing program to exclude all unlawful forms of prejudice or discrimination based upon race, color, religion, national origin, or sex from its personnel policies and practices and working conditions; and

(5) Conduct a continuing review of job structure and employment practices and adopt positive recruitment, job design, and other measures needed to ensure genuine equality of opportunity to participate fully in all organizational units, occupations, and levels of responsibility.

The Commission has also identified specific measures that nonexempt SEU's must take and periodically analyze:

(1) Disseminate the station's equal employment opportunity program to job applicants and employees;

(2) Review seniority practices to ensure that such practices are nondiscriminatory;

(3) Examine rates of pay and fringe benefits for employees having the same duties, and eliminate any inequities based upon race, national origin, color, religion or sex discrimination;

(4) Utilize media for recruitment purposes in a manner that will contain no indication, either explicit or implicit, of a preference for one race, national origin, color, religion or sex over another;

(5) Ensure that promotions to positions of greater responsibility are made in a nondiscriminatory manner;

(6) Where union agreements exist, cooperate with the union or unions in the development of programs to ensure all persons of equal opportunity for employment, irrespective of race, national origin, color, religion, or sex, and include an effective nondiscrimination clause in new or renegotiated union agreements; and

(7) Avoid the use of selection techniques or tests that have the effect of discriminating against any person based on race, national origin, color, religion, or sex.

It is very important that every SEU with five or more full-time employees not only implement an effective EEO Program as contemplated above, but also maintain an adequate paper trail demonstrating that each of the elements and tasks identified above is being carried out in a meaningful way. The point person for EEO at such SEU's should have meaningful input into the setting of the EEO policy and program and meaningful oversight and responsibility for implementation and enforcement of the EEO policy and program.

B. Three Outreach Prongs

In addition to the above, the new EEO Rule contains a three-prong EEO outreach requirement designed to ensure broad outreach to potential male and female applicants of all races and ethnicities.

1. Outreach Prong 1 – Recruitment for All Full-time Vacancies

SEU's with five or more full-time employees must recruit for all full-time vacancies, except in exigent circumstances. The crux of the recruitment obligation is wide dissemination of information concerning each job vacancy. In circumstances where recruitment may not be feasible, such as where there is an immediate need to replace an employee who departs without notice and whose duties cannot be filled, even briefly, by other station employees, the Commission has stated that the broadcaster is excused from the obligation to widely recruit before hiring. However, according to the Commission, these circumstances should be rare. If an SEU is considering hiring a full-time employee without the benefit of broad recruitment, the SEU should seek the advice of communications counsel before going ahead. The reason is that there is a high likelihood that the Commission and the public interest and civil rights groups will have an institutional concern with any full-time hire that was not the subject of broad recruitment.

The Commission contemplates that broadcasters will recruit using "sources designed to achieve broad outreach" in order "to insure that all segments of the population have an equal opportunity to compete for broadcast...employment and that no segment is subjected to intentional or unintentional discrimination." The new EEO Rule requires broadcasters to develop and use for each full-time job vacancy a variety of recruitment sources that can be reasonably expected, collectively, to reach "the entire community." "A broadcaster may widely disseminate job postings through any combination of methods sufficient to ensure that its recruitment efforts are inclusive." For purposes of this outreach requirement, the definition of "community" is left to a licensee's good faith discretion, but the licensee should consider "community" as encompassing, at a minimum, its community of license. Depending upon the technical coverage of the station, the geographic scope of its marketing, promotional and advertising practices, Nielsen and Arbitron market definitions, and the locations of locally-based community groups which have requested to be given notice of job vacancies, "community" may for a particular station also include the entire county in which the station is licensed as well as the Metropolitan Statistical Area (“MSA”) in the case of counties located in an MSA. To minimize the risk of second guessing by third parties and the Commission, stations should use as geographically broad a definition of “community” as is realistic for the particular station and its operations.

The Commission has stated that broadcasters will not be required to demonstrate that they received a response from a particular segment of the community or that a particular segment of the community was actually aware of a particular vacancy. Nor will the Commission require that recruitment be “targeted to a specific segment” of the community, only that a station’s EEO “recruitment sources be reasonably calculated to reach the entire community.” The Commission made these statements in response to concerns expressed in the rulemaking that a broadcaster may be required to reach out to an infinite number of occupational, ideological, sociological, historical, recreational, political, philosophical, economic segments, etc. in every community.

In FCC Form 396-A (“Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Model Program Report”) the Commission has stated that it contemplates that a broadcaster will develop “specialized referral sources” to insure wide dissemination of job openings. The Commission has added: “Sources which subsequently prove to nonproductive should not be relied on and new sources should be sought.”

The State Broadcasters Associations have twice sought, in 1999 and in 2002, to have the Commission accept the Internet as a universal, common, broadcast standard for the wide dissemination of job vacancy information. Their “Internet Plus” proposal was comprised of well publicized use of the Internet for job vacancy postings and “safety valve” notices to locally-based referral organizations which request to be placed on a station’s “mailing list” of job vacancy notices. The State Associations’ dual proposal was intended (i) to remove the uncertainty inherent in the Commission’s goal of “inclusiveness,” through the use of intermediate referral organizations,” and (ii) to promote increased effectiveness and efficiency in the recruitment process through direct Internet-based communications between broadcasters and potential applicants. Under the “Internet Plus” approach, every broadcasters would know what would truly constitute compliance with the wide dissemination requirement.

The fact that the Commission has, to date, rejected the “Internet Plus” proposal means that there is no clear, unambiguous standard against which to measure a station’s compliance with the wide dissemination requirement. What is known is that Internet only dissemination is not enough. That being said, the Commission has stated that stations have the discretion to determine which combination of recruitment sources or methods will produce the widest and most inclusive outreach. A combination of the following sources and dissemination methodologies should, therefore, be considered for every full-time job opening:

1. Post full-time job vacancies on the station’s own job bank web page and/or on the job bank web pages of its State Broadcasters Association, the National Alliance of State

Broadcasters Associations, the National Association of Broadcasters and other organizations in order to insure that the station's outreach is as geographically widespread as technology permits and so that the greatest number of people can be made aware of the job opening and compete for it. If a station uses the Internet as one method of broad outreach, it should air spots promoting that fact so that its listeners or viewers become accustomed to looking for job postings on broadcast-related Internet web sites.

2. Send, or cause a responsible third-party to send, notices of job openings to all referral organizations which have asked to be placed on the station's "mailing list" for its postings. Many State Broadcasters Associations maintain lists of referral organizations on a state-wide, regional and national basis in order to help stations in their recruitment efforts. At least one State Broadcasters Association acts as a responsible third-party and routinely mails notices of job openings for its members to a list of over 700 referral organizations.

3. Expand these "mailing lists" to include local, statewide and regional women's and minority groups; local and area high schools, trade schools, two year colleges, four year colleges and universities; churches, business and professional organizations, including organizations with substantial numbers of minority and female members; and send, or cause a responsible third-party to send, notices of job openings to such groups, educational institutions, churches and other organizations.

4. Promote the job opening over the licensee's station.
5. Advertise the job opening over unaffiliated radio and television stations,
6. Advertise the job opening in local newspapers with wide circulation as well as in newspapers directed to minorities and women;
7. Advertise the job opening in relevant trade periodicals.
8. Promote the job opening at job fairs.
9. Post the job opening in the offices of the station so that the station's employees can compete for the opening as well as refer others to the station.
10. Other referral sources and methodologies.

The Commission has not stated that a station must purchase broadcast air time or take out print ads every time there is a job opening. There should be a periodic review of the sources/methods used for recruitment to determine which sources are producing applicants, including women and minorities. Stations should work with non-productive sources to try to make them productive. New sources should be added as they become known. The more sources/methods used on a usual and customary basis, the less risk there will be that a station's efforts could be second guessed in a serious way. On the other hand, the more sources used, the greater the burden on stations to evaluate their productivity. All advertisements and job vacancy notices, regardless of the manner in which they are distributed, should contain a statement that the broadcaster is an equal opportunity employer (“EOE”) to advise the public of the employer’s EEO and nondiscrimination commitment.

In the Second R&O, the Commission has made it clear that “word-of-mouth” recruitment is neither unlawful nor inappropriate so long as it is accompanied by broad recruitment efforts as well: “broadcasters are free to use non-public recruitment sources and to interview and hire persons referred by such sources, so long as they also use public recruitment sources sufficient to achieve broad outreach and fairly consider the applications generated by those sources.”

Broadcasters may also engage in joint recruitment efforts, but each broadcaster remains individually legally responsible for meeting the broad outreach obligation. For example, it would be permissible for a station to arrange with its State Broadcasters Association or another reputable third party which would routinely mail, fax or e-mail notices of job openings for stations to a long list of referral organizations.

A broadcaster must afford “reasonable time after recruitment is initiated for applications to be filed before the position is filled.” The Commission has stated that it would have concerns where there is “evidence that an entity has pre-selected a successful candidate without considering the applications of other applicants....” Where applications were received as the result of prior vacancy-specific recruitment efforts conducted in accordance with the new EEO Rule, the FCC has permitted a broadcaster to use applications generated three months prior to the hire at issue.

Temporary hires and interns are not subject to the recruitment requirement of the new EEO Rule. However, if a temporary hire or an intern were subsequently considered for a permanent position, the permanent position would first have to be subject to broad recruitment. Such recruitment must also take place where a former employee is being considered for re-hire. Recruitment is not necessary for internal promotions unless the job position from which the person is being promoted was not previously the subject of broad recruitment. Recruitment is not required for non-employee volunteers.

2. Outreach Prong 2 – Notification to Community Groups

So that “no segment of the community is inadvertently omitted from recruitment efforts,” the FCC is also requiring broadcasters, as a “safety valve,” to provide notification of full-time job vacancies to organizations involved in assisting job seekers upon request by such organizations. There is no limit on the number of organizations that may request notification. Broadcasters must maintain a list of all these organizations and make certain that they are sent notice of all such vacancies. Stations have the right to determine how they will provide notice to requesting parties, i.e. by e-mail, fax or letter. As mentioned above, stations may use third-parties to disseminate such notices to these referral organizations so long as each station accepts the fact that it remains legally responsible for full compliance with the requirement. Accordingly, broadcasters should only rely upon reputable organizations to perform the ministerial function of sending the notices and require adequate proof of which announcements were sent to which referral organizations on which date. Furthermore, since records of the contact data for each such organization, including the name and telephone number of the contact person at each organization, must be maintained by stations and will have to be disclosed in each annual EEO Public File Report, third party organizations need to provide that information to stations on a regular basis.

Broadcasters must make reasonable efforts to publicize the fact that qualifying referral organizations may ask to be placed on a “mailing list” for information about all or certain types of job openings at the station(s). Publicity may be accomplished through the use of over-the-air announcements and/or newspaper advertisements, either individually sponsored or sponsored jointly by in-market broadcasters and/or State Broadcasters Associations.

An organization that wants to be notified of job vacancies need only notify a broadcaster once, and then it is entitled to notification of all future full-time vacancies. If a broadcaster wishes to ascertain a group’s continuing interest, it may contact the group, but if the group indicates a continuing interest in receiving notifications, or does not respond one way or another or at all, the organization should be treated as entitled to continue to receive such notices unless there is clear proof that the organization has gone out of business or has moved and its forwarding address information is unavailable.

According to the Commission, the obligation to notify recruitment sources that request notice of job openings is a supplement to, not a substitute for, a licensee’s core obligation to widely disseminate information about job vacancies. If a licensee does not receive any requests for notice of vacancies, it is still responsible for ensuring that notices of openings are widely disseminated in the community.

It is advisable that well before the March 10, 2003 effective date of the new EEO Rule, that stations begin to develop their lists of referral organizations so that they will be in compliance with the new EEO Rule if an opening were to occur on the effective date. For the same reason, stations should not delay in beginning to air announcements inviting eligible organizations to contact the station so that the station can add them to its mailing list for notices of job openings.

3. Outreach Prong 3 – Menu Options

The purpose of these activities is to “further broaden outreach efforts to reach segments of the labor force who may be inadvertently omitted from vacancy-specific recruitment.”

Specifically, SEU's with five to ten full-time employees and SEU's with larger full-time staffs but whose stations are located in "smaller markets" must engage in and complete at least two of the following menu options within each two-year period of its eight year license term. SEU's with more than ten full-time employees and whose stations are not located in "smaller markets" must complete at least four of these menu options within each two-year period. A "smaller market" station is defined as any SEU consisting solely of a station or stations licensed to a community that is in a county outside of all metropolitan areas or is in a metropolitan area with a population of less than 250,000.⁵

The non-job vacancy specific menu options include:

- i) participation in at least four job fairs by station personnel who have substantial responsibility in the making of hiring decisions;
- ii) hosting of at least one job fair;
- iii) co-sponsoring at least one job fair with organizations in the business and professional community whose membership includes substantial participation of women and minorities;
- iv) participation in at least four events sponsored by organizations representing groups present in the community interested in broadcast employment issues, including conventions, career days, workshops and similar activities;
- v) establishment of an internship program designed to assist members of the community to acquire skills needed for broadcast employment;
- vi) participation in job banks, Internet programs, and other programs designed to promote outreach generally (i.e., that are not primarily directed to providing notification of specific job vacancies);

⁵ Currently, information regarding Metropolitan Statistical Areas ("MSAs") and their populations can be found at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/inforeg/msa99.pdf>. MSAs with populations of fewer than 250,000 people are defined as Level C and D MSAs or PMSAs. New MSA information will be announced based on the 2003 Census in the future.

- vii) participation in scholarship programs designed to assist students interested in pursuing a career in broadcasting;
- viii) establishment of training programs designed to enable station personnel to acquire skills that could qualify them for higher level positions;
- ix) establishment of a mentoring program for station personnel;
- x) participation in at least four events or programs sponsored by educational institutions relating to career opportunities in broadcasting;
- xi) sponsorship of at least two events in the community designed to inform and educate members of the public as to employment opportunities in broadcasting;
- xii) listing of each upper-level category opening in a job bank or newsletter of media trade groups whose membership includes substantial participation of women and minorities;
- xiii) provision of assistance to unaffiliated non-profit entities in the maintenance of web sites that provide counseling on the process of searching for broadcast employment and/or other career development assistance pertinent to broadcasting;
- xiv) provision of training to management level personnel as to methods of ensuring equal employment opportunity and preventing discrimination;
- xv) provision of training to personnel of unaffiliated non-profit organizations interested in broadcast employment opportunities that would enable them to better refer job candidates for broadcast positions;
- xvi) participation in other activities designed by the station employment unit reasonably calculated to further the goal of disseminating information as to employment opportunities in broadcasting to job candidates who might otherwise be unaware of such opportunities.

The specific steps and details regarding the implementation of these menu options are left to the reasonable discretion of the broadcaster. While the Commission has declined to quantify the amount of effort that a broadcaster must devote to a particular menu option selected, it has cautioned that token efforts will be found inadequate. Joint participation is permitted so long as each station's participation shows "meaningful involvement in the activity for which credit is sought." Simply lending a station's name or providing money in a joint undertaking will not be viewed as adequate participation. If credit is sought for the joint hosting of a job fair, the broadcasters must also participate in a meaningful way in the "planning and implementation of the event." In time, the Commission is expected to give more guidance concerning compliance with the menu option prong. Accordingly, stations should consult with communications counsel as they begin to plan for compliance in this area in order to reduce the risk that a particular activity will be found not eligible for regulatory credit.

Broadcasters must, of course, retain sufficient documentation to verify that they have engaged in the specific activities, including records identifying the scope of their participation and names and titles of the station personnel involved.

The various State Broadcasters Associations are aware of these requirements and have taken and continue to take steps to institute many of these initiatives in order to help SEU's generate in a meaningful way the necessary credits, such as scholarship programs, internships, etc. Accordingly, SEU's should contact their respective state associations and ask what programs currently exist or are in development in which the SEU may participate in a meaningful way so that the SEU could appropriately claim a credit under this Commission requirement.

A cautious approach would be to practice "overachievement" in this area since there is always the risk that the Commission may decline to accept a credit for a particular activity.

4. Outreach Requirements for Religious Broadcasters

Religious broadcasters who elect to apply a religious qualification to a particular position are not required to strictly comply with the broad outreach requirement or the menu options with respect to that position. Rather they must make reasonable, good faith efforts to recruit applicants for that position, without regard to race, color, national origin or gender, among those who are qualified based on their religious belief or affiliation. However, with respect to positions that are not subject to a religious qualification, religious broadcaster SEU's which employ five or more full-time employees must fully comply with Prongs 1 and 2 of the new EEO Rule described above with respect to those positions. If a religious broadcaster SEU has five or more full-time employees in positions that are not subject to a religious qualification, it must also comply with Prong 3 mentioned above. A religious broadcaster SEU who employs five or more full-time persons and does not treat any of its positions as subject to a religious qualification must comply with all three prongs. A religious broadcaster who treats all of its positions as subject to a religious qualification is exempt from all three prongs, but, as mentioned above, must still make good faith efforts to recruit applicants without regard to race, color, national origin or gender from among its co-religionists.

IV. RECORDKEEPING

A. Obligations

All SEU's, regardless of staff size, must provide equal opportunities to all qualified persons and comply with the Commission's prohibition against unlawful employment discrimination. However, according to the new EEO Rule, only SEU's which employ five or more full-time employees must maintain documentation of their compliance with the general EEO Program requirements as well as with the three outreach prong requirements.

Specifically, every nonexempt SEU must retain documentation showing that it has reviewed and acted upon, those elements and tasks of its EEO Program described in Section III.A. above. In addition, each nonexempt SEU must maintain a list of each vacancy for a full-time permanent position that was filled during the pertinent review period, identified by job title, along with documentation demonstrating the specific steps taken, including sources used, to recruit for each such vacancy. Notice of an opening may be publicized in the electronic media, the print media, over the Internet as well as to individual referral sources. Accordingly, documentation could include copies of over-the-air announcements, newspaper advertisements, trade periodical ads, web page announcements, as well as e-mails, letters and faxes to specific recruitment sources. In order to be deemed sufficient, the records must show the dates/times when the job vacancy notices were publicized or sent, as the case may be. Such records should also contain the name of the media/Internet source used as well as the recruitment organizations to which the notice was sent, including its address, telephone number, e-mail address if applicable, contact person and the method by which the source received its notification, i.e., by e-mail, fax, U.S. mail, overnight courier, etc., as appropriate. Such records may be maintained in an electronic form.

NOTE - Absent a showing of extraordinary circumstances, the Commission will not give credit to activities that cannot be supported by adequate records.

B. Recordkeeping

Nonexempt SEU's have to collect and retain the following information:

1. listings of all full-time job vacancies filled by the station employment unit, identified by job title;
2. the recruitment sources used to fill each vacancy, including any organizations which requested notification (such organizations should be separately identified)

- and the name, address, contact person and telephone number of each recruitment source contacted to fill each position;
3. dated copies of all advertisements, letters, e-mails, faxes, etc., announcing each vacancy;
 4. documentation necessary to demonstrate performance of the Prong 3 menu options, e.g., job fairs, mentoring programs, including sufficient information to disclose fully the nature of the initiative and the scope of the SEU's participation, including the station personnel involved;
 5. the total number of interviewees for each vacancy and the referral source for each interviewee; and
 6. the date each vacancy was filled and the recruitment source that referred the hiree.

This Legal Guide does not contain a suggested recordkeeping form for assuring compliance with the general EEO Program requirements identified at Section III.A. since each station's approach to achieving compliance with those requirements will be very different. However, attached hereto as Attachment B is a set of recordkeeping forms which, subject to appropriate tailoring, can be used to help stations document their compliance with the Outreach Prongs and assist them in preparing their annual EEO Public File Report discussed below.

Specifically, four forms are provided. The first form, Form B-1, is a sample text of a broadcast or print notice that stations can use to notify organizations which assist job seekers that such organizations may request to be placed on the station's "mailing list" to receive notices of job vacancies at the station. The second form, Form B-2, is a sample form for collecting information about those sources that respond to this notice and are therefore entitled to receive information about job openings at the station on a routine basis. The third form, Form B-3, is to be used in connection with each specific job opening and provides a checklist for compliance with both the outreach and the recordkeeping requirements applicable to each specific opening. It is recommended that a separate file folder be opened for each job vacancy at the station and that a separate Form B-3 be placed in the folder and completed for each opening. The final form, Form B-4, is a form on which information regarding the Prong 3 Menu Option efforts can be recorded. The data/information from Forms B-3 and B-4 will be needed each year to complete the annual EEO Public File Report.

C. Recordkeeping for Religious Broadcasters

The EEO recordkeeping requirements for broadcasters who are not religious broadcasters are applicable to the non-religious qualified full-time positions of religious broadcasters. For religious qualified full-time positions, religious broadcasters must still retain documentation as to each such vacancy, the recruitment sources used, the date the vacancy was filled and the recruitment source of the hiree. The FCC states that it needs this information to monitor whether the religious broadcaster is making reasonable, good faith efforts to recruit among persons who meet the applicable religious qualification. The forms provided at Attachment B may, subject to appropriate tailoring, be used for this purpose.

D. Retention Period for EEO Outreach Records

The Commission is requiring licensees to retain all records documenting their outreach efforts until the final grant of the renewal application covering the license term during which the recruitment effort/activity took place.

V. FCC EEO REPORTING/FILING REQUIREMENTS

The FCC's new EEO Rule once again places special emphasis on making EEO information readily available to the public and to the FCC.

A. The Station "EEO Public File Report"

The new EEO Rule requires every nonexempt SEU to prepare on an annual basis, an "EEO Public File Report" comprised of the following

1. a list of all full-time vacancies filled by the station employment unit during the preceding year, identified by job title;
2. the recruitment sources used to fill each vacancy, (including organizations entitled to notification of vacancies which should be separately identified), as well as the address, contact person, and telephone number of each source;
3. a list of the recruitment source that referred the hiree for each full-time vacancy;
4. data reflecting the total number of persons interviewed for each full-time job vacancy in the preceding year;
5. the total number of interviewees referred by each recruitment source; and
6. a list and brief description of the Outreach Prong 3 menu options implemented during the preceding year.

Attached hereto as Attachment C is a sample form of “EEO Public File Report.” The contents of the report should be derived from the data/information gathered using Forms B-3 and B-4 hereto.

EEO Public File Report for Religious Broadcasters

Religious broadcasters with full-time hires subject to a religious qualification need to include the information contemplated in the first three items listed above.

Filing and Posting of EEO Public File Report

Annually, by the anniversary of the date on which its license renewal application is due to be filed, each nonexempt SEU must (i) place in the public inspection file of each of the stations comprising the SEU and (ii) post on each such station’s web site (if it has one) the station’s “EEO Public File Report.”⁶ The Second R&O makes clear that only the most current EEO Public File Report need be posted on the web site. Accordingly, a station may remove from its web site the immediately preceding EEO Public File Report once the current one has been posted, unless such prior EEO Public File Report is the subject of an unresolved complaint.

B. “Broadcast Mid-Term Report” on FCC Form 397

All television station SEU’s with five or more full-time employees, and all radio station SEU’s with more than ten full-time employees, must file a “Broadcast Mid-Term Report” on FCC Form 397 with the Commission by the first day of the month which constitutes the mid-point of their license terms. A copy of that report form is attached hereto as Attachment D. The two EEO Public File Reports for the two annual periods preceding the date of filing must accompany the Form 397 filing.⁷ The form also requires the SEU to identify by name and title the particular official who has been assigned “overall responsibility for equal employment opportunity” at the station. The SEU should assume that this person may be called by the FCC or a third party to verify this information and to determine whether the person’s appointment is bona fide. Accordingly, the person should not only be knowledgeable about and very much involved in setting, implementing and enforcing the station’s EEO policy and program, the person should be made aware that the FCC or a third party may call him or her to ascertain such involvement.

⁶ If the stations in the SEU are in different renewal cycles, the SEU has the discretion to select whichever renewal cycle is represented by one of the stations in the SEU.

⁷ The radio and television stations licensed to communities in New Jersey and New York, as well as in Delaware and Pennsylvania, are approaching the mid-term points, i.e., February 1, 2003 and April 1, 2003, respectively. However, these stations will not be required to file mid-term reports in 2003 because of the short time period between the projected effective date of the new EEO Rule and the filing dates.

C. “Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Program Report” on FCC Form 396

In addition, all stations must file with their renewal applications a “Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Program Report” on FCC Form 396, a copy of which is attached as Attachment E. Licensees must attach to the Form 396 copies of the station’s two EEO Public File Reports covering the preceding two annual periods, and provide a narrative statement describing how the station achieved “broad and inclusive” outreach during those two years. If the licensee had experienced any difficulties in its outreach efforts, it is afforded the opportunity to explain those difficulties in the narrative statement. The FCC has clarified that Form 396 also requires the reporting of each complaint filed against a station alleging unlawful employment discrimination during the most recent license term, whether the complaint is pending or was adjudicated and whether the complaint was resolved in favor of or adverse to the licensee. Stations should be aware that they may be required to report complaints of unlawful employment discrimination not based on race, national origin, color, religion or gender, but on other unlawful grounds such as age. All types of discrimination complaints should be disclosed to communications counsel for assessment under this requirement.

Form 396 also requires that the licensee identify by name and title the particular official who has overall responsibility for EEO at the station. Since the FCC, or a third-party, may contact this person, he or she should be knowledgeable about and involved in the station’s EEO policy and program. Furthermore, if the person is replaced for any reason while the license renewal application is pending, the Commission should be promptly notified of the name of the new person with such responsibility.

D. “Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Model Program Report” on FCC Form 396-A

Any Form 301 construction permit application, Form 314 assignment application, or Form 315 transfer application that involves an SEU that will employ five or more full-time employees must include a “Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Model Program Report” on FCC Form 396-A, a copy of which is attached hereto as Attachment F. Form 396-A requires the identification of the recruitment sources that the applicant, proposed assignee or proposed transferee intends to contact as part of its broad recruitment efforts.

VI. TIME BROKERAGE AGREEMENTS

If a station is being operated under a Time Brokerage Agreement or a Local Marketing Agreement, the licensee’s EEO Public File Report, Form 397 Mid-Term Report and Form 396 will include data only concerning the recruitment efforts for its own fulltime positions, and not concerning the broker's efforts for its own employees. A broker who is also the licensee of another station or stations in the market should include recruitment activity concerning full-time positions at the station it brokers in the reports it prepares for its own station(s) that is (are) most closely affiliated with and in the same market as the brokered station. If a licensee-broker does not own a station in the same market as the brokered station, it should include the information for the brokered station in the reports for the station it owns that is geographically the closest to the brokered station.

VII. EEO ENFORCEMENT

In order to ensure compliance with the new EEO Rule, the Commission has stated that it will conduct random inquiries and targeted investigations of licensees, requesting information relating to a licensee's EEO efforts. The Commission has stated that it will randomly select for audit approximately five percent of all licensees. In addition to the random audits, the Commission has stated that it may conduct an inquiry whenever it finds evidence of a possible violation of the new EEO Rule. An inquiry by the Commission could range from a request for all documentation of recruitment efforts to a request for the EEO-related contents of the public inspection file. Depending on the circumstances of the case, the inquiry could also include a request for EEO data covering any period of the license term, as well as witness interviews regarding the station's EEO conduct. The Commission has also indicated that the public may bring to its attention any problems that they find in the EEO public file reports.

The following types of action and inaction could constitute violations of the new EEO Rule: engaging in any type of unlawful employment discrimination; failing to maintain an effective EEO Program (token efforts are not enough); failing to send out notices of all full-time openings to all referral organizations which have requested such information; failing to recruit for all full-time vacancies absent exigent circumstances; failing to broadly/widely recruit throughout the community for all full-time vacancies absent exigent circumstances; failing to adequately substantiate that exigent circumstances actually existed; failing to fully and accurately document recruitment efforts for each job hire; failing to engage in the requisite number of non-vacancy menu options during each of the two year periods which comprise the license term; failing to routinely review the EEO Program for effectiveness and to implement efforts to improve the program; failing to timely file with the FCC a complete and accurate mid-term report with an accurate and complete EEO Public File Report; failing to timely place in the public inspection file the required EEO documentation; failing to timely post on a station web site the required EEO Public File Report; failing to timely file with the FCC a complete and accurate Form 396 or Form 397; not timely responding to a Commission inquiry or responding but being nonresponsive or evasive; engaging in misrepresentation or lack of candor regarding outreach efforts or other EEO-related information; etc.

FCC sanctions for deficiencies in a licensee's EEO compliance include admonishments, imposition of reporting conditions (possibly goals and timetables), monetary forfeitures, short term renewal of license, designation for a license renewal hearing, designation for license revocation hearing and loss of license. The Communications Act of 1934, as amended, precludes the Commission from granting a renewal of license where the license holder has engaged in serious violations of the Act or in a pattern of violations of the Act. Accordingly, the new EEO Rule represents a new critical compliance goal for broadcast stations as the Commission begins a new renewal cycle for radio and television stations across the Nation.

VIII. CONCLUSION

The new EEO Rule requirements are very broad and detailed in the efforts required and in the documentation and reporting expected. A violation can result in serious penalties. Therefore, broadcasters should treat this aspect of FCC rule compliance with the same level of diligence, truthfulness and careful recordkeeping and reporting that they devote to their filings with the Internal Revenue Service.

The Federal Communications Commission has not yet had an opportunity to interpret the rules, nor has the public had an opportunity to file Petitions for Reconsideration of the new rules. Such subsequent actions could result in changes to the rules from the manner in which they were originally adopted and are described herein. Accordingly, it is the responsibility of each individual reading this publication, including those involved in station recruiting and hiring, to remain fully abreast of developments in this area.

New Section 73.2080 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations

The Broadcast EEO Rule

I. Part 73 of Chapter 1 of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

Subpart H - Rules Applicable to All Broadcast Stations

Section 73.2080 is amended to delete the present language in its entirety and replace it with the following:

§ 73.2080. Equal employment opportunities (“EEO”).

(a) General EEO policy. Equal opportunity in employment shall be afforded by all licensees or permittees of commercially or noncommercially operated AM, FM, TV, Class A TV or international broadcast stations (as defined in this part) to all qualified persons, and no person shall be discriminated against in employment by such stations because of race, color, religion, national origin, or sex. Religious radio broadcasters may establish religious belief or affiliation as a job qualification for all station employees. However, they cannot discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin or gender from among those who share their religious affiliation or belief. For purposes of this rule, a religious broadcaster is a licensee which is, or is closely affiliated with, a church, synagogue, or other religious entity, including a subsidiary of such an entity.

(b) General EEO program requirements. Each broadcast station shall establish, maintain, and carry out a positive continuing program of specific practices designed to ensure equal opportunity and nondiscrimination in every aspect of station employment policy and practice. Under the terms of its program, a station shall:

(1) Define the responsibility of each level of management to ensure vigorous enforcement of its policy of equal opportunity, and establish a procedure to review and control managerial and supervisory performance;

(2) Inform its employees and recognized employee organizations of the equal employment opportunity policy and program and enlist their cooperation;

(3) Communicate its equal employment opportunity policy and program and its employment needs to sources of qualified applicants without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, or sex, and solicit their recruitment assistance on a continuing basis;

(4) Conduct a continuing program to exclude all unlawful forms of prejudice or discrimination based upon race, color, religion, national origin, or sex from its personnel policies and practices and working conditions; and

(5) Conduct a continuing review of job structure and employment practices and adopt positive recruitment, job design, and other measures needed to ensure genuine equality of

opportunity to participate fully in all organizational units, occupations, and levels of responsibility.

(c) Specific EEO program requirements. Under the terms of its program, a station employment unit must:

(1) Recruit for every full-time job vacancy in its operation. A job filled by an internal promotion is not considered a vacancy for which recruitment is necessary. Religious radio broadcasters who establish religious affiliation as a qualification for a job position are not required to comply with these recruitment requirements with respect to that job position or positions, but will be expected to make reasonable, good faith efforts to recruit applicants who are qualified based on their religious affiliation. Nothing in this section shall be interpreted to require a broadcaster to grant preferential treatment to any individual or group based on race, color, national origin, religion, or gender.

(i) A station employment unit shall use recruitment sources for each vacancy sufficient in its reasonable, good faith judgment to widely disseminate information concerning the vacancy.

(ii) In addition to such recruitment sources, a station employment unit shall provide notification of each full-time vacancy to any organization that distributes information about employment opportunities to job seekers or refers job seekers to employers, upon request by such organization. To be entitled to notice of vacancies, the requesting organization must provide the station employment unit with its name, mailing address, e-mail address (if applicable), telephone number, and contact person, and identify the category or categories of vacancies of which it requests notice. (An organization may request notice of all vacancies).

(2) Engage in at least four (if the station employment unit has more than ten full-time employees and is not located in a smaller market) or two (if it has five to ten full-time employees and/or is located entirely in a smaller market) of the following initiatives during each two-year period beginning with the date stations in the station employment unit are required to file renewal applications, or the second, fourth or sixth anniversaries of that date.

(i) participation in at least four job fairs by station personnel who have substantial responsibility in the making of hiring decisions;

(ii) hosting of at least one job fair;

(iii) co-sponsoring at least one job fair with organizations in the business and professional community whose membership includes substantial participation of women and minorities;

- (iv) participation in at least four events sponsored by organizations representing groups present in the community interested in broadcast employment issues, including conventions, career days, workshops, and similar activities;
- (v) establishment of an internship program designed to assist members of the community to acquire skills needed for broadcast employment;
- (vi) participation in job banks, Internet programs, and other programs designed to promote outreach generally (i.e., that are not primarily directed to providing notification of specific job vacancies);
- (vii) participation in scholarship programs designed to assist students interested in pursuing a career in broadcasting;
- (viii) establishment of training programs designed to enable station personnel to acquire skills that could qualify them for higher level positions;
- (ix) establishment of a mentoring program for station personnel;
- (x) participation in at least four events or programs sponsored by educational institutions relating to career opportunities in broadcasting;
- (xi) sponsorship of at least two events in the community designed to inform and educate members of the public as to employment opportunities in broadcasting;
- (xii) listing of each upper-level category opening in a job bank or newsletter of media trade groups whose membership includes substantial participation of women and minorities;
- (xiii) provision of assistance to unaffiliated non-profit entities in the maintenance of web sites that provide counseling on the process of searching for broadcast employment and/or other career development assistance pertinent to broadcasting;
- (xiv) provision of training to management level personnel as to methods of ensuring equal employment opportunity and preventing discrimination;
- (xv) provision of training to personnel of unaffiliated non-profit organizations interested in broadcast employment opportunities that would enable them to better refer job candidates for broadcast positions;
- (xvi) participation in other activities designed by the station employment unit reasonably calculated to further the goal of disseminating information as to employment opportunities in broadcasting to job candidates who might otherwise be unaware of such opportunities.

(3) Analyze its recruitment program on an ongoing basis to ensure that it is effective in achieving broad outreach to potential applicants, and address any problems found as a result of its analysis.

(4) Periodically analyze measures taken to:

(i) Disseminate the station's equal employment opportunity program to job applicants and employees;

(ii) Review seniority practices to ensure that such practices are nondiscriminatory;

(iii) Examine rates of pay and fringe benefits for employees having the same duties, and eliminate any inequities based upon race, national origin, color, religion, or sex discrimination;

(iv) Utilize media for recruitment purposes in a manner that will contain no indication, either explicit or implicit, of a preference for one race, national origin, color, religion or sex over another;

(v) Ensure that promotions to positions of greater responsibility are made in a nondiscriminatory manner;

(vi) Where union agreements exist, cooperate with the union or unions in the development of programs to ensure all persons of equal opportunity for employment, irrespective of race, national origin, color, religion, or sex, and include an effective nondiscrimination clause in new or renegotiated union agreements; and

(vii) Avoid the use of selection techniques or tests that have the effect of discriminating against any person based on race, national origin, color, religion, or sex.

(5) Retain records to document that it has satisfied the requirements of paragraphs (c)(1) and (2) of this section. Such records, which may be maintained in an electronic format, shall be retained until after grant of the renewal application for the term during which the vacancy was filled or the initiative occurred. Such records need not be submitted to the FCC unless specifically requested. The following records shall be maintained:

(i) listings of all full-time job vacancies filled by the station employment unit, identified by job title;

(ii) for each such vacancy, the recruitment sources utilized to fill the vacancy (including, if applicable, organizations entitled to notification pursuant to paragraph (c)(1)(ii) of this section, which should be separately identified), identified by name, address, contact person and telephone number;

(iii) dated copies of all advertisements, bulletins, letters, faxes, e-mails, or other communications announcing vacancies;

(iv) documentation necessary to demonstrate performance of the initiatives required by paragraph (c)(2) of this section, including sufficient information to fully disclose the nature of the initiative and the scope of the station's participation, including the station personnel involved;

(v) the total number of interviewees for each vacancy and the referral source for each interviewee; and

(vi) the date each vacancy was filled and the recruitment source that referred the hiree.

(6) Annually, on the anniversary of the date a station is due to file its renewal application, the station shall place in its public file, maintained pursuant to § 73.3526 or § 73.3527, and on its web site, if it has one, an EEO public file report containing the following information (although if any broadcast licensee acquires a station pursuant to FCC Form 314 or FCC Form 315 during the twelve months covered by the EEO public file report, its EEO public file report shall cover the period starting with the date it acquired the station):

(i) a list of all full-time vacancies filled by the station's employment unit during the preceding year, identified by job title;

(ii) for each such vacancy, the recruitment source(s) utilized to fill the vacancy (including, if applicable, organizations entitled to notification pursuant to paragraph (c)(1)(ii) of this section, which should be separately identified), identified by name, address, contact person and telephone number;

(iii) the recruitment source that referred the hiree for each full-time vacancy during the preceding year;

(iv) data reflecting the total number of persons interviewed for full-time vacancies during the preceding year and the total number of interviewees referred by each recruitment source utilized in connection with such vacancies; and

(v) a list and brief description of initiatives undertaken pursuant to paragraph (c)(2) of this section during the preceding year.

(d) Small Station Exemption. The provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section shall not apply to station employment units that have fewer than five full-time employees.

(e) Definitions. For the purposes of this Rule:

(1) a full-time employee is a permanent employee whose regular work schedule is 30 hours per week or more.

(2) a station employment unit is a station or a group of commonly owned stations in the same market that share at least one employee.

(3) a smaller market includes metropolitan areas as defined by the Office of Management and Budget with a population of fewer than 250,000 persons and areas outside of all metropolitan areas as defined by the Office of Management and Budget.

(f) Enforcement. The following provisions apply to employment activity concerning full-time positions at each broadcast station employment unit (defined in this part) employing five or more persons in full-time positions, except where noted.

(1) All broadcast stations, including those that are part of an employment unit with fewer than five full-time employees, shall file a Broadcast Equal Employment Opportunity Program Report (Form 396) with their renewal application. Form 396 is filed on the date the station is due to file its application for renewal of license. If a broadcast licensee acquires a station pursuant to FCC Form 314 or FCC Form 315 during the period that is to form the basis for the Form 396, information provided on its Form 396 should cover the licensee's EEO recruitment activity during the period starting with the date it acquired the station. Stations are required to maintain a copy of their Form 396 in the station's public file in accordance with the provisions of §§ 73.3526 and 73.3527.

(2) The Commission will conduct a mid-term review of the employment practices of each broadcast television station and each radio station that is part of an employment unit of more than ten full-time employees four years following the station's most recent license expiration date as specified in § 73.1020. Each such licensee is required to file with the Commission the Broadcast Mid-Term Report (FCC Form 397) four months prior to that date. If a broadcast licensee acquires a station pursuant to FCC Form 314 or FCC Form 315 during the period that is to form the basis for the Form 397, its Report should cover the licensee's EEO recruitment activity during the period starting with the date it acquired the station.

(3) If a station is subject to a time brokerage agreement, the licensee shall file Forms 396, Forms 397, and EEO public file reports concerning only its own recruitment activity. If a licensee is a broker of another station or stations, the licensee-broker shall include its recruitment activity for the brokered station(s) in determining the bases of Forms 396, Forms 397 and the EEO public file reports for its own station. If a licensee-broker owns more than one station, it shall include its recruitment activity for the brokered station in the Forms 396, Forms 397, and EEO public file reports filed for its own station that is most closely affiliated with, and in the same market as, the brokered station. If a licensee-broker does not own a station in the same market as the brokered station, then it shall include its recruitment activity for the brokered station in the Forms 396, Forms 397, and EEO public file reports filed for its own station that is geographically closest to the brokered station.

(4) Broadcast stations subject to this section shall maintain records of their recruitment activity necessary to demonstrate that they are in compliance with the EEO Rule. Stations shall ensure that they maintain records sufficient to verify the accuracy of information provided in Forms 396, Forms 397, and EEO public file reports. To determine compliance with the EEO Rule, the Commission may conduct inquiries of licensees at random or if it has evidence of a possible violation of the EEO Rule. In addition, the Commission will conduct random audits. Specifically, each year approximately five percent of all licensees in the television and radio services will be randomly selected for audit, ensuring that, even though the number of radio licensees is significantly larger than television licensees, both services are represented in the audit process. Upon request, stations shall make records available to the Commission for its review.

(5) The public may file complaints throughout the license term based on a station's Form 397 or the contents of a station's public file. Provisions concerning filing, withdrawing, or non-filing of informal objections or petitions to deny license renewal, assignment, or transfer applications are delineated in §§73.3584 and 73.3587-3589 of the Commission's Rules.

(g) Sanctions and Remedies. The Commission may issue appropriate sanctions and remedies for any violation of this Rule.

Sample Annual EEO Public File Report Form

Sample Annual EEO Public File Report Form

[Station Call Signs]

Annual EEO Public File Report

The purpose of this EEO Public File Report (“Report”) is to comply with Section 73.2080(c)(6) of the FCC’s 2002 EEO Rule. This Report has been prepared on behalf of the Station Employment Unit that is comprised of the following station(s): [Station Call Sign(s) and Communities of License] and is required to be placed in the public inspection files of these stations, and posted on their websites, if they have websites.

The information contained in this Report covers the time period beginning _____ to and including _____ (the “Applicable Period”).

The FCC’s 2002 EEO Rule requires that this Report contain the following information:

1. A list of all full-time vacancies filled by the Station(s) comprising the Station Employment Unit during the Applicable Period;
2. For each such vacancy, the recruitment source(s) utilized to fill the vacancy (including, if applicable, organizations entitled to notification pursuant to Section 73.2080(c)(1)(ii) of the new EEO Rule, which should be separately identified), identified by name, address, contact person and telephone number;
3. The recruitment source that referred the hiree for each full-time vacancy during the Applicable Period;
4. Data reflecting the total number of persons interviewed for full-time vacancies during the Applicable Period and the total number of interviewees referred by each recruitment source utilized in connection with such vacancies; and
5. A list and brief description of the initiatives undertaken pursuant to Section 73.2080(c)(2) of the FCC rules.

GUIDELINES TO THE MODEL EEO PROGRAM

The model EEO program adopted by the Commission for construction permit applicants, assignees, and transferees contains five sections designed to assist the applicant in establishing an effective EEO program for its station. The specific elements which should be addressed are as follows:

I. GENERAL POLICY

The first section of the program should contain a statement by the applicant that it will afford equal employment opportunity in all personnel actions without regard to race, color, religion, national origin or sex, and that it has adopted an EEO program which is designed to fully utilize the skills of qualified persons.

II. RESPONSIBILITY FOR IMPLEMENTATION

This section calls for the name (if known) and title of the official who will be designated by the applicant to have responsibility for implementing the station's program.

III. POLICY DISSEMINATION

The purpose of this section is to disclose the manner in which the station's EEO policy will be communicated to employees and prospective employees. The applicant's program should indicate whether it: (a) intends to utilize an employment application form which contains a notice informing job applicants that discrimination is prohibited and that persons who believe that they have been discriminated against may notify appropriate governmental agencies; (b) will post a notice which informs job applicants and employees that the applicant is an equal opportunity employer and that they may notify appropriate governmental authorities if they believe that they have been discriminated against; and (c) will seek the cooperation of labor unions, if represented at the station, in the implementation of its EEO program and in the inclusion of nondiscrimination provisions in union contracts. The applicant should also set forth any other methods it proposes to utilize in conveying its EEO policy (e.g., orientation materials, on-air announcements, station newsletter) to employees and prospective employees.

V. RECRUITMENT

The applicant should specify the recruitment sources and other techniques it proposes to use to attract qualified job applicants. The purpose of the listing is to assist the applicant in developing specialized referral sources to ensure wide dissemination of vacancy information as job opportunities occur. Sources which subsequently prove to be nonproductive should not be relied on and new sources should be sought.

MODEL EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM

I. GENERAL POLICY

It will be our policy to provide equal employment opportunity to all qualified individuals without regard to race, color, religion, national origin or sex in all personnel actions including recruitment, evaluation, selection, promotion, compensation, training and termination.

Federal Communications Commission

FCC 02-303

It will also be our policy to promote the realization of equal employment opportunity through a positive, continuing program of specific practices designed to ensure the full realization of equal employment opportunity without regard to race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

To make this policy effective, and to ensure conformance with the Rules and Regulations of the Federal Communications Commission, we have adopted an Equal Employment Opportunity Program which includes the following elements:

II. RESPONSIBILITY FOR IMPLEMENTATION

will be responsible for the administration and implementation of our Equal Employment Opportunity Program. It will also be the responsibility of all persons making employment decisions with respect to the recruitment, evaluation, selection, promotion, compensation, training and termination of employees to ensure that our policy and program is adhered to and that no person is discriminated against in employment because of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

III. POLICY DISSEMINATION

To ensure that all members of the staff are cognizant of our equal employment opportunity policy and their individual responsibilities in carrying out this policy, the following communication efforts will be made:

- The station's employment application forms will contain a notice informing prospective employees that discrimination because of race, color, religion, national origin or sex is prohibited and that they may notify the appropriate local, State or Federal agency if they believe they have been the victims of discrimination.
- Appropriate notices will be posted informing applicants and employees that the station is an Equal Opportunity Employer and of their right to notify an appropriate local, State or Federal agency if they believe they have been the victims of discrimination.
- We will seek the cooperation of unions, if represented at the station, to help implement our EEO program and all union contracts will contain a nondiscrimination clause.
- Other (specify)

IV. RECRUITMENT

To ensure that information concerning each full-time vacancy is widely disseminated, we propose to use the following list of recruitment sources consistent with the requirements of 47 C.F.R. Section 73.2080:
